

Platform Guidelines

IELTS AI Tutor by IELTSGRADER - Social Ops (ban-safe edition)

How to set up and act on each platform. Goal: promote ieltsgrader.com without Reddit bans or LinkedIn comment blocks. Reddit does NOT say the brand name. Quora / YouTube / IG / TikTok / bios do - that is where people learn 'ieltsgrader' and click the site.

North star

Trust first -> free evaluation -> visits to ieltsgrader.com. Brand name memory comes from branded channels (Quora/YouTube/bios), not from a neutral Reddit username. Never optimize for link dumps in Reddit or LinkedIn comments.

Two identities (use both)

- Community identity (Reddit + LinkedIn comments): neutral human tutor. No 'IELTS' + 'grader/tutor/AI' in the username. No brand logo as avatar.
- Brand identity (YouTube, Instagram, TikTok, LinkedIn Company Page, site): IELTSGRADER / IELTS AI Tutor - promo expected here.

Where soft CTAs + URLs are allowed

OK: Quora, Twitter/X, YouTube (comments/answers when intent fits); IG/TikTok via bio

NEVER: Reddit comments - no product, no brand tokens, no URLs

NEVER: LinkedIn comments - no product, no disclosure boilerplate, no raw URLs (LinkedIn blocks this pattern)

Banned phrases in no-CTA contexts

- ieltsgrader / ieltsgrader.com / IELTS AI Tutor
- free evaluation / Full disclosure / I'm affiliated
- Any raw http(s) link in the comment

Effort priority: promotion, referral, SEO

Based on ban/block feedback (Reddit Rule 1+14, LinkedIn comment spam filter): put time where you can name IELTSGRADER and link safely. Do not spend promo energy on Reddit/LinkedIn comments.

P0 - Spend most time here (promotion + SEO + referral)

- Quora: Best mix. Long answers get indexed (SEO). Soft CTA + disclosure + UTM when they ask for tools/feedback (promotion). Ask readers to share the free check with classmates (referral). Target: several strong answers per week.
- YouTube (Shorts + description + pinned comment): Names the brand, links the site (promotion). Search + suggested traffic (SEO). End screens / pinned 'share with a study partner' (referral). Target: 3-5 Shorts/week from one edit.
- Owned site / blog (from Social Ops themes): Ranks for 'IELTS essay checker' style queries (SEO). Primary conversion. Add referral/share hooks on success screens separately in product.

P1 - Steady secondary (promotion; lighter SEO)

- Instagram + TikTok: Same Short as YouTube. Promotion via link in bio only. Weak for classic SEO; strong for awareness + bio clicks. Referral: Stories 'send to a friend preparing IELTS'.
- Twitter/X: Fast replies; bio link always on. In-reply URL only on tool asks. Modest SEO. Good for repeating brand name safely.
- LinkedIn (owned posts + profile Website/Featured only): Soft CTA via profile, not comments. Parents/teachers audience. Skip rival AI-tool comment threads (blocked pattern).

P2 - Presence only (almost no direct promotion)

- Reddit: Help only. Zero links/brand in comments. Optional profile bridge to Quora/YouTube. Does NOT create 'ieltsgrader' search demand by itself. Cap time: enough to stay useful, not your promo engine.
- LinkedIn comments: Insight only - same as Reddit for links. Do not chase referral or SEO here.
- Facebook Groups: Warmup/value first; Page website for promo. Low priority vs Quora/YouTube.

Weekly time split (one person)

- About 45%: Quora answers + YouTube Shorts/descriptions (P0)
- About 25%: IG/TikTok captions + X replies + LinkedIn owned posts (P1)
- About 20%: Reddit value comments with neutral account (P2 presence)
- About 10%: Theme notes -> blog / next week's create pack

Measure what matters

Promotion: Quora/YouTube/X UTMs + bio clicks. Referral: invite/share events on site or 'send to a friend' CTAs on YT/IG. SEO: GSC clicks to blog/checkers + Quora-referred search. Do NOT measure success by Reddit or LinkedIn comment link CTR.

1. Reddit

Highest ban risk. r/IELTS forbids promoting AI / instant-feedback tools (Rule 1) and commercial / authority-style usernames (Rule 14). u/ieltsgrader was permanently banned for this. Do not use that handle for engagement.

Account identity

- Account type: Personal community account (NOT the brand)
 - Username / handle: New neutral handle only. Examples of SAFE style: writing_band_tips, task2_notes, essay_structure_help. FORBIDDEN patterns: ieltsgrader, IELTSGrader, ieltsAITutor, anything with IELTS + grader/tutor/AI/bot.
- Display name: Plain human-sounding name (e.g. Writing tips). No company name.
- Profile photo: Real person photo OR simple abstract avatar (illustration, initials that are NOT 'IG' brand mark). Do NOT use the IELTSGRADER logo.
 - Bio / About: Writing tutor / IELTS Writing tips. Optional: 'Longer answers on Quora / YouTube' - do NOT put ieltsgrader.com or 'AI essay grader' in the bio if you post in r/IELTS.
 - Website / link field: Prefer empty or a non-product destination (Quora/YouTube). If you add a site later, never paste it in comments.

How to act - comments (Admin Social Ops paste)

OK: Value-only: one concrete tip tied to their essay/prompt

OK: If they ask for a tool: refuse AI checkers (sub rules); give human TR/CC tip or point to official band descriptors

OK: Follow up helpfully if they reply - still no product

NEVER: Soft CTA, disclosure, ieltsgrader.com, or any URL in comments

NEVER: Recommend your AI tool even when they ask for 'best checker'

NEVER: Promo from u/ieltsgrader or any branded handle

How to act - your own posts

- Max ~1 value post / week; teach criteria, structure, vocab - no product
- End with invitation to discuss in comments, not a link

Target communities

- r/IELTS - zero AI-tool promo forever
- r/EnglishLearning - treat as zero promo
- study-abroad / visa subs - help only; read each sub's rules first

How people learn the brand name (important)

A neutral Reddit username does NOT teach anyone the word 'ieltsgrader'. If comments never say the brand and the handle is not the brand, people have nothing to Google from Reddit alone. That is expected and correct under r/IELTS rules.

What actually creates brand name memory:

- Quora answers that name IELTSGRADER / ieltsgrader.com (with disclosure)
- YouTube / Instagram / TikTok brand channels and bios
- LinkedIn Website / Featured on person or company page
- Ads, blog SEO, direct site visits
- People who already know the brand and also see helpful Reddit tips (reinforcement only - not how they first learn the name)

What Reddit is actually for

- Stay inside r/IELTS (banned account = zero presence)
- Deliver high-quality Writing help (credibility for the operator, not the brand string)
- Soft bridge ONLY in profile (not comments): e.g. 'Writing tips - more on YouTube / Quora' pointing at the BRANDED YouTube/Quora. Never put ieltsgrader.com or 'AI grader' in the Reddit bio if that risks Rule 1/14.
- Feed topic ideas into Quora/YouTube/blog that DO rank and name the product
- If someone DMs 'do you tutor / have a site?' - answer off-comment carefully; still avoid spammy link blasts

Bridge path (how Reddit can still help conversion)

Reddit help -> (optional) student opens Reddit profile -> sees Quora/YouTube -> branded channel names IELTSGRADER and links ieltsgrader.com. Many students never open the profile; that is fine. Most site clicks still come from Quora/YouTube/bios directly the same week - Reddit is not the main click path.

Concrete example

- Reddit comment: human tip only - no brand, no URL (even if they ask for a checker)
- Curious student opens profile -> 'more tips on YouTube: IELTSGRADER' -> Short that says free check at ieltsgrader.com
- Or they never click profile - you still convert other students on Quora/YouTube that week

Give up vs keep

- GIVE UP: Reddit comments that mint the brand name or drop the URL
- GIVE UP: expecting people to Google 'ieltsgrader' only because they saw a neutral u/ handle
- KEEP: access to the community + profile bridge to branded channels + content ideas
- KEEP: real naming + links on Quora / YouTube / bios where rules allow

One-liner

Reddit does not say the brand; Quora/YouTube/bios do. Reddit only keeps you present and may send a few people to those branded channels via profile.

Appeal note

Unban under u/ieltsgrader will still fail Rule 14 (username). Use a new neutral account. Acknowledge Rule 1 + 14; do not promise 'less promo' under the branded handle.

2. LinkedIn

Confirmed failure mode: commenting under another AI IELTS post with soft CTA + ieltsgrader.com + 'Full disclosure: I'm affiliated...' from a brand-looking profile. LinkedIn returns: 'Your comment could not be created at this time.' Treat comments like Reddit: teach only.

Use TWO LinkedIn surfaces

- Person profile - ALL comments and most organic discussion. Educator, not a bot.
- Company Page (IELTSGRADER) - owned brand posts only. Do not use the Company Page (or brand 'IG' logo avatar) to spam comments on others' posts.

Account identity

- Account type: Person profile for engage; Company Page for brand create
- Username / handle: Person: real first + last name URL (linkedin.com/in/your-name). Not 'ieltsgrader' as the public identity for commenting.
- Display name: Person headline example: 'IELTS Writing coach | Task 1 & 2 feedback'. Avoid 'AI Grader' / 'IELTSGRADER official' on the person profile used for comments.
- Profile photo: Person: clear headshot of a real person. Company Page: brand logo OK. Do NOT comment from an account whose avatar is only the 'IG' brand mark if that account is used for cold outreach comments.
- Bio / About: About: teaching IELTS Writing, criteria (TR/CC/LR/GRA), study plans. Website field on the person profile may list ieltsgrader.com with UTM (this is the conversion path - not comments).

- Website / link field: Put https://ieltsgrader.com/?utm_source=linkedin&utm_medium=social&utm_campaign=organic_profile in Website and/or Featured. Never paste that URL into comments.

How to act - comments on others' posts

OK: Short professional insight only (structure, criteria, one fix)

NEVER: Raw URLs, ieltsgrader.com, Inkd.in promo dumps

NEVER: Full disclosure / I'm affiliated / free evaluation boilerplate

NEVER: Reply-promo under competitor or other AI-tool marketing posts - skip those threads

How to act - your own posts (Company or person)

- Post A (education): pure teaching - no URL, no disclosure
- Post B (soft CTA): say 'link in my profile / Featured' - do NOT paste raw ieltsgrader.com in the post body
- After a comment block: stop, strip links/disclosure, wait before posting again. Do not retry the same promo paste.

Conversion path

Profile Website / Featured clicks + owned posts. Measure profile visits, not comment link CTR.

3. Quora

Primary SEO + promo surface. Long-lived answers get indexed. Soft CTA + disclosure + one allowlisted URL is appropriate when the question asks for tools, checkers, or feedback options.

Account identity

- Account type: Personal space / writer profile (can be lightly branded)
- Username / handle: Real name or clear tutor name. Avoid spammy keyword stuffing.
- Display name: Name + optional 'IELTS Writing' - disclosure when you promote.
- Profile photo: Real person headshot preferred (builds trust for long answers).
- Bio / About: IELTS Writing tutor. When relevant: affiliated with IELTS AI Tutor by IELTSGRADER (ieltsgrader.com).
- Website / link field: <https://ieltsgrader.com> (or UTM link) in profile credentials / spaces as allowed.

How to act

OK: Detailed, specific answers - criteria, examples, before/after lines

OK: When they ask for a tool/checker/tutor: soft CTA + disclosure + one ieltsgrader.com UTM link

OK: Reply to comments on your answers; keep teaching

NEVER: Answer every question with the same paste-link template

NEVER: Guarantee Band 7 or '100% accurate'

Disclosure line (when promoting)

Full disclosure: I'm affiliated with IELTS AI Tutor by IELTSGRADER (ieltsgrader.com).

Conversion path

Direct UTM clicks + Google indexing of answers. Track `utm_source=quora`.

4. Twitter / X

Fast discourse. Soft CTA allowed when someone asks for tools; otherwise teach. Prefer bio link over dumping URLs in every reply.

Account identity

- Account type: Brand or person - pick one and stay consistent
- Username / handle: @ handle without looking like an official IELTS exam account
- Display name: IELTS Writing tips / IELTSGRADER - clear you are a product/tutor brand if brand account
- Profile photo: Brand logo OK on brand account; person photo on person account
- Bio / About: IELTS Writing help. Free band breakdown: link in bio. Be honest you build a tutor product if brand.

- Website / link field: Bio link ->
https://ieltsgrader.com/?utm_source=twitter&utm_medium=social&utm_campaign=organic_bio

How to act

OK: Short tips, threads, reply to students/tutors with one concrete fix

OK: Tool ask -> one URL + short disclosure

OK: Otherwise -> teach; point to bio if needed

NEVER: Mass-reply the same CTA under every #IELTS post

Conversion path

Bio clicks + occasional in-reply link on tool asks. Track utm_source=twitter.

5. YouTube

Authority + Shorts discovery. Promo belongs in description and pinned comment - expected by viewers.

Account identity

- Account type: Brand channel
- Username / handle: IELTSGRADER or IELTS AI Tutor by IELTSGRADER
- Display name: IELTS AI Tutor by IELTSGRADER
- Profile photo: Brand logo / channel art matching site (navy #1a1f36, blue #3B82F6)
- Bio / About: AI writing tutor: criterion feedback, fix cards, study plans. Link below.
- Website / link field: Channel links + every description: ieltsgrader.com with UTM

How to act

OK: 45-60s Shorts: one writing fix, spoken CTA OK

OK: Description: soft CTA + https://ieltsgrader.com/?utm_source=youtube...

OK: Pinned comment: free evaluation invite + link

OK: Reply to comments with teaching; link again only if asked

NEVER: Fake 'student story' guarantees or official IELTS affiliation claims

Conversion path

Description + pinned comment clicks. Strong for SEO and branded search.

6. Instagram

Same Short assets as Reels. Links live in bio - not in caption URLs.

Account identity

- Account type: Brand business/creator account
- Username / handle: @ieltsgrader or similar brand handle (OK here - not Reddit)
- Display name: IELTSGRADER | IELTS AI Tutor
- Profile photo: Brand logo; feed aesthetic consistent with site
- Bio / About: IELTS Writing in 60s feedback. Free check -> link in bio.
- Website / link field: Link in bio / Linktree -> ieltsgrader.com UTM (utm_source=instagram)

How to act

OK: Reels + Stories from the same Short edit; captions teach one tip

OK: Say 'link in bio' - never raw URLs in caption if avoidable

OK: Reply to DMs/comments with help; send link only when asked

NEVER: Comment-spam other IELTS accounts with your link

Conversion path

Bio link clicks. Track Instagram Insights + UTM.

7. TikTok

Native short-form; same creative as YouTube Shorts / Reels with TikTok tone.

Account identity

- Account type: Brand creator account
- Username / handle: Brand handle (ieltsgrader style OK)
- Display name: IELTSGRADER
- Profile photo: Brand logo or friendly face + brand consistency
- Bio / About: IELTS Writing fixes. Free essay check - link in bio.
- Website / link field: Bio link -> ieltsgrader.com UTM (utm_source=tiktok)

How to act

OK: Native caption style; on-screen hook; 'link in bio'

OK: Reply to comments with micro-tips

NEVER: External link spam in comments on others' videos

Conversion path

Bio link. Track utm_source=tiktok.

8. Facebook

Page for brand posts; Groups are often anti-promo. Warm up with value before any product mention (SOCIAL_WARMUP mindset).

Account identity

- Account type: Facebook Page (brand) + careful personal use in Groups
- Username / handle: Page: IELTSGRADER / IELTS AI Tutor
- Display name: IELTSGRADER
- Profile photo: Brand logo on Page
- Bio / About: AI writing tutor for IELTS Task 1 & 2. Free evaluation on our site.
- Website / link field: Page website -> ieltsgrader.com UTM (utm_source=facebook)

How to act

OK: Page posts: short tips for GT / study-abroad parents

OK: Groups: read rules; help first; link only if group allows and asked

NEVER: Drop the same link in multiple groups the same day

NEVER: During warmup: zero product mentions in Groups

Conversion path

Page website clicks + rare group-safe mentions with disclosure.

9. Daily operator checklist

- Paste only Admin Social Ops drafts that match the platform rules above
- If a draft has a link/disclosure on Reddit or LinkedIn comments - do not post; mark for rewrite
- Mark Done / Wait for reply / Dead so threads are not reworked blindly
- Once a thread is pending or done, weekly runs must not suggest it again (memory)
- Measure: Quora/YouTube/X UTMs, bio clicks, GSC branded queries from branded channels - not Reddit comment CTR (neutral Reddit names do not create 'ieltsgrader' search demand by themselves)

Disclosure (allowed platforms only)

Full disclosure: I'm affiliated with IELTS AI Tutor by IELTSGRADER (ieltsgrader.com).

Soft CTA example (Quora / X / YouTube - paraphrase)

If you want criterion-by-criterion feedback in about a minute, we built a free evaluation at ieltsgrader.com - no pressure either way.

Remember

Reddit does not say the brand; Quora/YouTube/bios do. Reddit/LinkedIn comments = help + stay unbanned (+ optional profile bridge). Quora + YouTube + X + bios = name IELTSGRADER and link ieltsgrader.com. Never mix those playbooks.
